

Oog van de orkaan (Eye of the hurricane)

There's a storm brewing
I'm looking around Everyone around me is just staring at their feet
Am I standing here alone?

Then I take a look at the horizon and see some people working hard Working together with the wind Building on each other
I wished that I could join them

*See us standing here in the eye of the hurricane
The storm rages around us
But can you feel it roar?*

Will you stay in the clear and sunny middle Or do you take the chance to use the power of the wind and take a different path

I stare at the sea when suddenly a ship approaches

The captain asks me the question:
"Will you come with me?
Follow the rhythm of the day and the stars in the night
Then you will find your path
Here is a compass"

See us standing here.. in the eye of the hurricane.
What is holding you back?
Just to take the leap,
through storm and rain Just to go against the wind for what is truly important to you

The world is waiting for you