"Why didn't we do anything?" "He's such a good guy for our group." Combining it, looking away, not daring to discuss it. Such oftentimes subtle - and recognizable - issues that are the focus of the Mindlab theater performance about social safety in the workplace. I recently saw the preview and the play is really well put together. Impressive how the playwright and the director have done their research and how well they have 'captured' issues that ... lees meer
