YOUR STUDIES

The University of Melbourne's exchange and study abroad program is flexible, allowing you to choose undergraduate and graduate subjects from most degrees across our schools and faculties.

YOUR SUBJECTS

You will take three or four subjects to equal a total credit load of 37.5 to 50 points (each subject is usually worth 12.5 credit points). As long as you meet the prerequisite requirements, you can combine these from any area. For example, you could take two subjects in science, one in business and one in arts. Of all the subjects listed in the University Handbook, there are only a few specialist areas that are not open to exchange and study abroad students. These include medicine, dentistry, health sciences, veterinary science and film and television. Some biomedicine and law subjects are also restricted. Refer to our website for details on availability:

study.unimelb.edu.au/how-to-apply/international-exchange-and-study-abroad-applications/program-options

For each subject, you usually attend a combination of large lectures and small group tutorials or laboratory classes. Contact hours vary depending on the subjects you choose, but are usually between 12–18 hours per week in total.

While you may have fewer contact hours than in your home institution, the demands placed on you to learn independently outside the classroom makes the workload equivalent to that which most students experience at home.

HOW TO SEARCH FOR SUBJECTS

To apply for exchange or study abroad at Melbourne, you'll first need to identify the subjects you wish to study.

UNIVERSITY HANDBOOK

You can search all University of Melbourne subjects in the University's online Handbook: handbook.unimelb.edu.au

To find University breadth subjects, type 'UNIB' into the search bar on the Handbook homepage.

If you're not sure what faculty or graduate school your study area fits into, look them up here: unimelb.edu.au/az/faculties.html

SUBJECT YEAR LEVELS

The first number listed in the subject code indicates the year of the subject:

- Numbers 1–3 indicate the subject is a first, second or third-year subject in a Melbourne undergraduate degree
- Numbers 5–9 indicate a graduate-level subject (not in any particular order)
- Number 4 usually indicates the subject is part of an honours degree (these subjects are not usually open to visiting students).

For example, HORT20012 is a second-year undergraduate subject and BTCH90005 is a graduate-level subject.

View our complete guide about subjects and faculties at Melbourne online:

study.unimelb.edu.au/how-to-apply/international-exchange-and-study-abroad-applications/program-options/selecting-subjects

STEP 1 The Handbook is Melbourne's searchable database of all courses and subjects. This is the best place to start when looking for subjects to study.

handbook.unimelb.edu.au

STEP 2 In the Search box, type a topic that interests you, such as biology, marketing, or Australia.

STEP 3 Click 'subjects' on the left-hand side to ensure you will see only subjects/classes and not degrees/courses in your search results. If the keyword you entered is in the title of the subject or in the description of the subject, the subject will appear on the list.

STEP 4 Click on the subject name to get more detailed information such as prerequisites or corequisites, assessment details, and timetabling. Make sure you have completed the prerequisites to ensure you are eligible to study the subject. Don't forget to click on Further Information to check if the subject is open to exchange and study abroad students.

STEP 5 Laboratory/practicum is sometimes included under the primary subject name and description. Labs are not always offered separately. Review the subject description to learn the percentage of lecture and practicum time.

STEP 6 Confirm the subject will be offered during the semester you plan to be in Melbourne and note the subject name and code, as you will need this for your application. Remember that semester 1 in Melbourne runs from March to June and semester 2 runs from mid-July to mid-November.

STEP 7 There is no need for additional enrolment confirmation as space will be available for you if you are approved to study the subject. You will be able to enrol in approved subjects prior to your arrival.

TRANSITION AND SUPPORT

Even though your stay with us may be short, the range of support services we offer will help you adjust to life in Australia and provide you with ongoing assistance when you need it.

ORIENTATION AND ENROLMENT

The Orientation and Enrolment program marks the beginning of the University of Melbourne semester. This is the period where you finalise your chosen subjects, become acquainted with the campus and facilities and, most importantly, meet other students. You can attend workshops and lectures covering topics such as cultural differences, adjusting to a new academic culture and how to explore Australia on a budget.

OTHER SERVICES

Whatever help you need, you're bound to find it on campus. As well as the above services, we also offer our students the following support:

- Academic skills
- Advocacy service
- Careers and employment service
- Chaplaincy
- Counselling
- Disability support
- Financial aid and advice
- Health service
- Housing support
- Security service

The Melbourne University Student Exchange Club (MUSEX) is one of the largest and most successful student clubs on campus. Run by students, for students, MUSEX provides you with easy access to 'locals' and the opportunity to join a range of activities including surf trips, sports matches, dinners and nights out on the town.

HOW MUCH WILL IT COST?

You should consider the following expenses when planning to study overseas:

- Tuition fees
- Living costs
- Visa application fee
- Overseas Student Health Cover (OSHC) – a requirement of the Australian Government
- Personal spending, including travel to and around Australia.

TUITION FEES

EXCHANGE STUDENTS

There are no tuition fees payable to the University of Melbourne for students on exchange. The cost of participating in the exchange program is covered by the agreement between your home institution and the University of Melbourne.

STUDY ABROAD STUDENTS

Tuition fees for 2019 are shown in the table across. Study abroad students pay a set fee per semester, which allows you to enrol in three or four subjects. Fees are charged at the published rate for that semester and are charged for each semester you are enrolled. If you enrol in three or more graduate subjects you will be enrolled as a graduate student and charged the graduate study abroad fee.

study.unimelb.edu.au/how-to-apply/international-exchange-and-study-abroad-applications/tuition-fees

HOUSING AND LIVING COSTS

Melbourne offers many lifestyle options to fit many budgets, so it's best to have a plan as to which option will suit you. You might choose to live in the inner suburbs, and walk or cycle to uni. Some students choose to save on rental costs by living further out, in which case they need to think about public transport costs or a car. Substantial savings can be had by sharing accommodation, shopping at Melbourne's famous markets, using our libraries and the student-owned co-ops, and attending free events on campus.

"I am currently studying at the University of Melbourne as an exchange student to (mostly) improve my English. Why Melbourne and not the United States or UK? I wanted to go far from Europe to achieve independence and to travel. I love to discover new things and new landscapes and for this, I think that Australia is the best country. It's been my dream to come here!"

“I was awarded a scholarship from my home university (University of Guadalajara) to support my expenses as an exchange student, as well as not having to pay the tuition of the University of Melbourne.

“One of the highlights of my Melbourne experience is being selected to be a contributor to the exchange and study abroad blog to share my experiences here. I enjoyed meeting great people, having amazing teachers and also free barbeques on Wednesdays!”
